

A watercolor illustration of tropical birds and foliage. At the top, a large bird with a red and orange beak and a striped neck is partially visible. On the right, a small green and white bird is perched. In the bottom left, a colorful parrot with red, green, and orange feathers is perched on a branch. The background is a dark blue-grey color, and the text is in a light cream and green color. The foliage includes large green leaves and branches with small orange and green berries.
